

Dr. Barnes Cites Historic Import Of World Church Council Meeting

"One has to go back to early Christian centuries to find meetings of Church Councils of such universality and importance as the meeting of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam this summer," Dr. George Emerson Barnes, of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church, stated this week. Dr. Barnes has been appointed one of ten representatives of the Presbyterian Church to attend this meeting from August 22 to September 4. Accompanied by Mrs. Barnes he sailed on the Mauretania Wednesday for this Assembly of the World Council.

"This promises to be one of the great historic meetings of modern Christendom," he added. "One hundred thirty-six Communions from 42 countries will be represented at Amsterdam. This constitutes a very complete cross-section of the Christian world."

"The purpose of the World Council meeting is not to organize a super-Church, but to provide a means whereby the will of God for our times can be effectively studied and unitedly stated," Dr. Barnes continued. "It will seek to create the unity which is consistent with variety of organization, creed and worship. It will seek to establish a unity which belongs to democracy and create the togetherness of Christian people and Christian churches which will provide the instrumentality through which our disordered world may be transformed into a pattern which will make possible a new day of hope and peace for all mankind."

Narberth Residents Still Register Complaints Against Meters After 5 Months Installation

Council Donation For Fourth Discussed

Proposal Follows Annual Debate on Clean-up Charge

Narberth Borough Council may make a donation next year for the first time toward the community's annual Fourth of July celebration, it was disclosed Monday night at Council's August meeting.

The donation would be provided by an increase in the budget appropriation for military and civic contributions.

A proposal to amend the budget next year in order to make such a donation was made by Walter A. Fox, Council president, after the annual discussion of who should pay for cleaning up the playground after the celebration.

The work is done each year by Borough workmen. In the past the cost has been charged to the Fourth of July Committee. This year the cost was $145.

"The work of cleaning up the field," declared Fox, "is as much the responsibility of the committee as purchasing the prizes and should be considered as such in their budget."

If Council decides to make a contribution, it will not be specifically earmarked for maintenance of the field but will simply be turned over to the general Fourth of July Fund.

Previously, the Borough has made no donation to the celebration and has not included any provision for it in the budget.

The military and civic affair contributions item in the Borough's budget allows for donations to patriotic and other public affairs, such as the annual Memorial Day celebration.

Deer Leads Three-Man Police Posse a Merry Chase On Campus of Sacred Heart Academy Sunday

Youngsters traditionally have vivid imaginations, so when several small girls reported that a live deer was running loose on the grounds of the Sacred Heart Academy Sunday afternoon, the grown-ups to whom they made their report paid scant attention.

But then the grown-ups themselves saw the deer. That was different.

A hurried call to Lower Merion Police brought Lt. Robert Miller and Patrolman Howard Miller to the scene with the help of George Matthews, Lower Merion Township constable, a round-up party was organized.

The deer, a four-point buck, had wandered onto the campus of the Academy at Haverford Rd., and City Line, from parts unknown and was trying to make himself at home in the wooded section of the property.

And although the would-be captors tried their best to keep the deer, (sorry, deer) from going out onto the heavily traveled highway and causing an automobile accident, he eluded the posse by leaping over a six foot fence at the rear of the property and was last seen going down Allendale Rd., at a good clip.

The meeting was held at the Llanerch Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

Nearly five months after their installation, parking meters are still causing trouble in Narberth. Complaints are being received by Borough officials almost every day from residents who either want the meters removed, or are protesting overtime parking tickets.

Richard L. Miller, Narberth Burgess, said Monday night that the latest complaint came from a resident who stated that commercial vehicles were parking on streets not covered by meters, and were blocking private driveways and creating traffic hazards.

The vehicles, the resident stated in a letter addressed to Council, were parking in the vicinity of Windsor and Grayling Aves., an area where there are no meters.

This is the second time such a complaint has been received by Council. Recently a petition was presented at a Council meeting by

Last month Borough Council received a complaint from a Narberth resident who said that cars were parked in front of his house all night and throughout the day.

This month it was reported that his complaint was followed up by a police check-up on the cars parked near his house during the night.

During the month, one lone car was discovered and a ticket duly issued.

The offender? The complainant. Sometimes you can't win, can you?

Otto Duer, Narberth justice of the peace, on behalf of a group of residents who asked the removal of meters from areas not heavily used by motorists.

In his petition, Duer stated that motorists park on side streets to avoid paying the meter charge, and thereby prevent home owners from parking in front of their homes.

Duer presented his petition at the June meeting of Council, and it was referred to the Council Property committee.

Burgess Miller, in discussing the complaint brought before Council Monday night, stated that the complaints were principally against commercial trucks and cars which were parked in the morning and left all day.

Walter A. Fox, president of Council, added that although there is no legal action the Borough can take against these cars, since there is no parking limit set on the streets which are so used, an effort will be made to relieve the problem by circulating a letter to the businessmen of the Borough asking them to keep their cars and trucks in lots available in the Borough.

Council members also pointed out at the meeting that the lot located on Haverford Ave., near the Borough garage which was put into condition for parking by the Borough, is used very little, although parking there is free and unlimited.

Miller also added that many complaints had been received from motorists who were fined for parking overtime only one or two minutes.

"It is impossible," he said, "for the officer to tell how long a vehicle has been parked overtime once the violation flag is up on the meter. The men go up one street and down the other looking for violations, and once the red flag goes up, the car is liable for a ticket."

"Besides," he added, "it is illegal to park in one place more than one hour unless the parking space is in a two-hour area. The meters in the two-hour areas are clearly marked as such."

It was reported that during the past month, a total of 131 tickets were issued for parking violations.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Copyright 1948 by CHARLES A. WRIGHT

Backward, Turn Backward

Pittsburgh—In this city celebrated for steel and smoke, a number of middle-aged men have become "boys" again—at least for a few days. They are members of the Elbeetan (pronounced L-B-T-an) Legion, whose slogan is "through eternity we'll never forget." They have come from many parts of the country to help renew and preserve friendships formed between 1915 and 1924, when all were members of the Lone Scouts of America. Most of them bring their wives and children along, because it's that kind of a convention.

The Elbeetan Legion is an organization without officers or dues that has existed since 1927. To understand such an organization, you have to have some understanding of the parent group, the Lone Scouts, at one time a potent rival of the Boy Scouts of America, but now a part of it.

Lone Scouting was started by W. D. Boyce, a Chicago publisher, who five years previously had brought the Boy Scout idea to the United States from England. But Mr. Boyce became dissatisfied with the way the Boy Scout organization was being run, particularly because at that time it made no provision for boys in isolated areas where there were no troops. Mr. Boyce set up his new organization partly to overcome this lack and partly to interest boys in selling his weekly papers. To hold things together, he started a new weekly paper called "Lone Scout" that originally cost only one cent a copy.

Whereas a Boy Scout promised to do a "good turn" daily, a Lone Scout was pledged to do a "useful thing." In many other respects, Lone Scouting was a mail order copy of Boy Scouting, in which boys could operate alone or in tribes, and with or without adult supervision. Its distinctive character came about by accident when the overworked editor of "Lone Scout" was short of copy for one issue and used an article written by a boy to help fill up. That encouraged others and within a year almost everything was contributed by boys. Gold, silver and bronze "merit medals" were awarded for the best contributions, but the biggest reward to each boy was just to see his stuff in print.

Through this phase of its program, Lone Scouting took on an appeal to boys in cities as well as to those in rural areas. They were the "quiet boys," the "studious boys," the "ambitious boys," who once in a while liked to get away from boyhood's rough and tumble in order to write a story or to draw a picture or to develop a roll of film or to run a small printing press. As they did that, they dreamed of the future. Lone Scouting helped make many of those dreams come true.

In "Lone Scout" appeared the first cartoons of Roland Coe and Gregory D'Alessio, whose work now appears in the Saturday Evening Post and other magazines; the first published work of Claude Binion, the movie writer, and of Knight and Cal Tinney, of radio fame; the first article by Rush Holt, who later became the youngest U. S. Senator since Henry Clay. Their work also appeared in "tribe papers," published by boys who are now well known in printing, law, education, and other fields.

And although some of these famous personalities are attending the Pittsburgh convention, the greatest interest, as at previous conventions, is centered around quiet spoken Charles Merlin, of Hudson Heights, N. J., who is here with his smiling wife and his energetic son and daughter. Charlie founded the Elbeetan Legion and it is largely because of his work and self-sacrifice that the organization has come to mean so much to its members.

As a boy, Merlin was one of the most famous Lone Scouts. His articles appeared frequently in "Lone Scout" and his tribe paper, originally called "Lone Beaver Tribune" and later just "Elbeetee," had hundreds of subscribers at 25 cents a year. Like other "old timers," Charlie was saddened when the organization merged with the Boy Scouts and the official magazine was replaced by a page in "Boys' Life." But he had just met the smiling Frances and had no time for nostalgia about the past.

After he and Frances were married a couple of years, however, he began to realize what Lone Scouting had meant to him. He had made hundreds of friends, some nearby whom he could visit and others far away whom he might never see. He longed for a way to keep those friendships alive and wondered if other old Lone Scouts left the same way. So finally in 1927 he mimeographed a little paper with the familiar title, "Elbeetee," and sent it to the addresses on his list. It suggested that if as many as 25 were interested, they might form an organization, each member pledged to write at least one letter a year to be printed in "Elbeetee."

Within a few weeks the original quota was filled and as word of the organization spread, membership grew to an eventual total above 700. Merlin would not depart from his pledge of "no officers and no dues," but as the organization grew other members shared the work of getting out "Elbeetee" and made voluntary contributions to help defray the expenses.

Acquaintanceship by mail led to a desire for more personal contacts. The first convention was held in 1934 at McKeesport and there has been one every year except during the war. For a time the war halted all the Legion's activities. Many members were scattered around the world in the armed forces. Merlin was working 70 hours a week and had no time to get out "Elbeetee." Members lost track of each other and began losing interest. Then a group of New York members began publishing a paper, appropriately called "The Pinch Hitter," which held the group together until the war ended and Merlin was able to resume "Elbeetee."

Last year's convention was held on a mountain top near Denver. This year's is being held in a hotel here in Pittsburgh. But wherever the convention is held, the spirit is the same. While the wives and children participate in their special activities, the Elbeetians swap old copies of "Lone Scout" and old tribe papers and swap memories of "the good old days." Some have seen their boyhood dreams come true; others have not, but that doesn't matter. When men become boys again like this, their dreams of "the good old days." Some have a "key"

Is there really
to security?

That's not just literary license.

There is a key, and you can see it on the face of every greenback issued by Uncle Sam.

Take out a dollar bill—or a hundred-dollar bill, if you have one. You'll see the key near the bottom of the little colored seal.

Enough of these keys in your possession and you can open all the doors to future happiness for yourself and family.

How to be a key-saver

Thousands of Americans have found the easiest, safest way in the world to save money, to make it grow—with United States Security Bonds.

Many of them are building a fund for the future through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Those not on a payroll are taking advantage of America's Best Buy through the Bond-A-Month Plan at their bank.

Are you one of these people? Or will your future security be locked behind the door of neglect?

STABILIZES ECONOMY. . . What's more, every Bond you buy does its part to keep economy strong. Wise saving means more sensible spending. Fewer dollars go to market to bid up prices on scarce goods.

America's Security is Your Security!

New Look For Young Housewives

CHICAGO—Contest Winner Jackie Brown demonstrates the advantages of the newest in clothing and equipment for the modern homemaker to Losers Gloria Hunter (center) and Betsy Harmon, exponents of older methods of ironing. Jackie, cool, comfortable and efficient in shorts and halter, defeated the two girls in a shirt ironing contest (Gloria: electric hand iron; Betsy: old-fashioned sad iron) by finishing a shirt from first crease to final fold on the Conlon automatic home ironer in 4 minutes, 33 seconds in a contest held recently here.

Know Your State

More than 3,146,000 acres, or approximately one-ninth of all Pennsylvania land, is now publicly owned. The State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce points out. This does not include the grounds occupied by state hospitals, State educational institutions, and other public buildings, nor the approximately 41,000 acres of our many reservations.

By far the largest areas of State-owned land are held by the Department of Forests and Waters as forest and park land, and by the Pennsylvania Game Commission. The total acreage under the custody of these two agencies is 2,604,976.

The Federal Government owns 501,509 acres within the Commonwealth, including the Allegheny unit for agriculture. It is now being National Forest in Elk, McKean and other counties, and several rural and recreational resources for the settlement areas and historic sites. Many of the State's holdings of which the largest is the Battle of Red Bank, are in regions of great scenic beauty, such as the Cook

A considerable portion of these Forest with its virgin pines and Federal areas is now administered by the State Government. The last single holding of public land in the State is the 269,722 acres served unspoiled in the ownership of State Forest and game land in Potter County. The 217, 123 acres in Clinton County rank second.

Montour County, with a total of 230 acres in public ownership, is at the bottom of the list. It is also the State's smallest county.

Photo Classics

A new version of a bird's eye view was achieved by photographer Joseph Costa when he used a helicopter to make this unusual shot of the Statue of Liberty. Costa brought his Speed Graphic within 40 feet of the statue—the closest shot ever made of the "Lady." Use of a helicopter has set a new trend in photography.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The playground on the grounds of the Mt. Pleasant school about a mile and a half out side of Wayne is the scene of much activity these days. In the morning youngsters from four through eleven years of age engage in many activities such as games, handcrafts, songs, story telling, dramatics and much interest is centered around a new sand box. Tuesday evening the girls soft ball team played the Haverford Community center girls at Haverford.

Movies were shown on Wednesday evening by the Philadelphia Electric Company. Thursday evening a committee met to plan a dance.

An amateur hour will be staged Friday morning for the younger boys and girls who wish to enter. Next Monday evening the movie "Beyond Our Own" will be shown by H. Rowland Weaver, Executive Secretary of the Main Line Y.

The regular meeting of the Playground committee will be held next Wednesday evening at 8 P. M.

Tournaments for teenagers will soon be played off in badminton, valley ball, checkers, table tennis, darts, soft ball throw for accuracy and horse shoes.

The morning program from 9 A. M. until noon is directed by Mrs. Lillian Holliday and the evening activities from 6 P. M. until dark are under the direction of Donald Young.

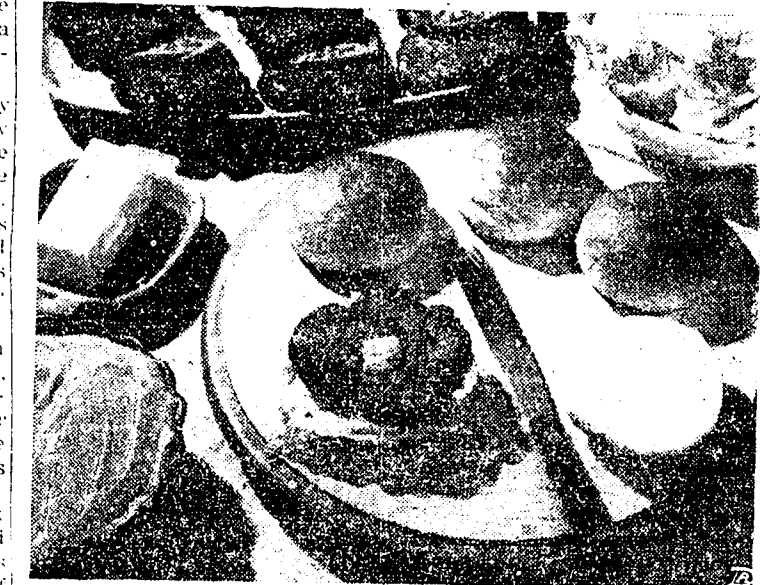

Among those who are assisting in the morning are Mary Louise Young, Molly Jones, Patricia Holliday and in the evening George Dennis, and Curtis Jones.

Two moon light cruises on the Wilson Line are scheduled for next week by Main Line Y groups.

Wednesday night the members of Twenty to Club, composed of young adults, and Thursday evening teenagers will go aboard the "Delaware Belle."

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs of this area were represented Tuesday at Central branch YMCA by Jane Nelson and Lewis Thomas, Jr. of Lower Merion. Ann Thompson of Haverford; Angelina Pomante, of Radnor; Houston Elam, from the Overbrook School for the Blind; Clarice Blocher, of Marple Newtown, and Eugene Hughes, of the Hawks. Homemade Sandwich Buns

Just plain good food is the keynote of a quick menu of well-done hamburgers on enriched sandwich buns, served with plenty of garden fresh salad.

A serve-yourself meal which features hamburgers and refishes is certain to draw many comments of "what fun this is!" Sandwich buns from the bakery or made at home give the "burgers" that wonderful special flavor. When made at home, the buns are easily shaped from a plain yeast dough by rolling into small balls and flattening to the desired shape.

With the picnic season in full swing, it is a good idea to bake enough buns at one time to take care of sandwich needs for several days. Careful storage preserves their fresh quality. Incidentally, the buns taste wonderful when toasted over an open fire.

On other occasions you may wish to let the nearby friendly baker save you time and energy. The enriched sandwich buns he supplies also provide the important B-vitamins and iron of these home-made buns.

Sandwich Buns
2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
1 1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup eggs
4 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add eggs. Beat until blended. Add softened yeast. Mix well. Add remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in lightly greased bowl. Grease surface. Cover. Let rise until doubled (about one and one-half hours). Punch down. Shape into number of buns desired by rolling into small balls and flattening to form sandwich buns. Place on greased baking sheets. Let rise until doubled (about one hour). Form remaining dough into smooth ball. Grease surface lightly. Cover and put into refrigerator. When wanted, remove dough from refrigerator and punch down. Mold at once, or if preferred, let dough stand in warm room for an hour before molding. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 18 minutes. Yield: Two dozen four and one-half inch buns.

CHOOSING A CAREER

Refrigeration and Air Conditioning

Refrigeration and air conditioning is one of the most popular fields of interest for young men of mechanical inclination. Installation of cooling and freezing equipment offers a great opportunity for the man who is prepared to take advantage of this growth, especially in the frozen foods line he is in the home or store. In the store the knowledge of drafting and blue print reading is essential for proper estimating and installation. Calculations of heat losses on new installations are a necessary part of the training to become a competent installation or service mechanic.

Most young men like to be sure their training is adequate to take care of their present needs and also to enable them to secure promotion in this chosen field when the opportunity presents itself. Air conditioning is the application of refrigeration to the circulation of air which has been conditioned for human comfort by cooling and dehumidifying the air in summer and in winter by heating the air and adding proper humidification.

Doubtless many people today do not realize the many applications of refrigeration and air conditioning, but if they would just look around, even in the new food stores and observe the food cases, meat cases, milk, cheese and ice cream cases, also frozen foods and the storage of meats, they would see that every food market has a tremendous amount of refrigeration equipment. Naturally this means an opportunity in installation and later requires a certain amount of servicing in keeping it running. It is very vital that this type of refrigeration operates continually and well, since the cost of food involved is considerable.

Electricity provides a high percentage of the problems encountered in the field. To successfully install or service refrigeration or air conditioning equipment a thorough grounding in theory and practice of electricity is essential.

The heat pump is the newest method of heating and cooling homes. It requires the use and knowledge of Refrigeration, for the principals of Refrigeration are the basis of heat transfer in either cooling or heating, hence the term "Heat Pump" has been chosen to designate the new heating or cooling system. This heat is removed from the house to the ground and thus the house is cooled. In winter heat is taken from the ground and pumped into the house. An air circulation system of course is essential in the house in place of heating pipes, such as steam or hot water heating.

Of course, Refrigeration then have to have the "know how" and should not be afraid to get their hands dirty. It is an opportunity for the mechanically minded young man and promise a profitable future.

Frederick H. Stafford, of 307 Manoa Rd., Manoa, left last Sunday to attend the conference held by the Standard Life Insurance Company of America at Desharats, Canada.

Stafford will be the guest of Arthur MacArthur, chairman of the Board, until he returns on August 17.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Mountains and Molehills

You talk to a lot of people in the course of a newspaperman's day—people in every walk of life: businessmen, retired businessmen, doctors, dentists, ministers of the Gospel, real estate and insurance men, milkmen, bakery drivers, just plain housewives and young men and women just starting out in life or getting ready to enter college.

In all of them these days, there seems to be an increasing tendency to make mountains out of molehills.

Now, that is a common human trait. But it is one which needs watching, lest it become chronic and prove a curse to the individual. For when we allow the passing and the petty to assume undue magnitude, they frequently obscure an otherwise fair and lovely horizon.

Take for example those minor physical sensations, the natural slight aches and pains and the natural fatigue which come over us at the close of an exacting or an exciting day. How easy it is to magnify these out of all proportion, to imagine them the symptoms of some major malady, when they should be quietly ignored.

For it sometimes happens that when the mind gets hold of a disease idea, the body will obligingly produce the symptoms of that very ailment.

Hysteria, imagination and being suspicious are frequently the cause of magnifying molehills, and they can become a curse and make many a home unhappy. And 99 times out of 100, there is absolutely nothing wrong, nothing to worry about: everything is on the level and we, by our hysteria, our too-active imagination or our suspicions—make ourselves and everyone around us miserable.

Equally deserving of being quietly ignored are the small criticisms and often unkind comments of persons who either do not understand what we are trying to accomplish or are out of sympathy with it.

It is a sad mistake to let these little pinpricks worry us and get us down in the dumps or to permit them to interfere with whatever we have set our hand to doing. Such incidental attacks are among those things which have to be endured and are, perhaps, the price one must pay for minding his own business.

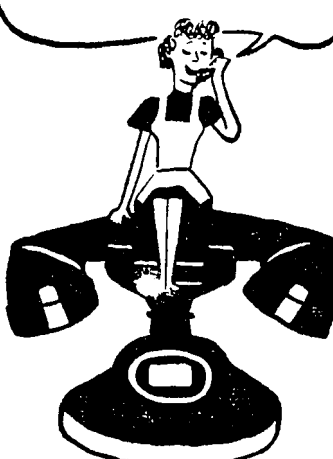

In these trying days the tendency to give to molehills the magnitude of mountains is greater than usual. And it is, accordingly, more important than ever to try to control that tendency. It will pay us big dividends to relegate these minor annoyances to their rightfully minor place in the scheme of things, whether they concern our homes, our political world, our business, our church or our personal feelings. We should strive more earnestly than ever before to overcome these little molehills of hysteria, imagination or suspicion, and we will find that we are thereby strengthened to handle the bigger problems which life brings to us all.

Smile, be happy, count your many blessings, do your job well and you will find life can and will be beautiful.

NARBERTH NINE PLAYS HOST TO WAYNE ON SATURDAY; MANOA INVADERS MEDIA

By HARRY ELLSWORTH
Narberth remained one-half game ahead of the pack as the Main Line League race entered its final two weeks of regular play. The Boroughites had their eighth game winning streak stopped by Manoa, 3-0, on Saturday, but bounced back to a 17-1 win over Ardmore. Media suffered a surprise 10-4 loss to Wayne on Saturday, but rallied to clip Glenolden, 10-6, to stay in second place.

Manoa's win over Narberth placed the Nelsons in a tie with Media for second place, and Wayne clinched second place playoff spot by stopping Media and then nipping Clifton Heights, 2-1.

Media's title chances will ride on their two important contests this weekend. In fact, this week may decide the final standings of the top three.

The Main Liners will entertain their second place bed-fellows, Manoa, at Media on Saturday, but will meet the league-leading Narberth club at Narberth on Sunday. It is probable that Dom Caniglia and Eddie Lofland will pitch for Media in these two crucial games.

Gene Davis will probably use Jack Greenly, who has downed Media twice this year, on Sunday, with Gene Weinert scheduled to go against late-starting Wayne at the Borough hall park on Saturday.

Manoa, after throwing Millard Robinson or Nick DeFranks at Media on Saturday, will probably counter with Tom Grace against Wayne at Manoa on Sunday.

Clifton Meets Ardmore
Clifton Heights, which tied Ardmore for sixth place last week, can take the sixth spot by beating the Lions at Clifton Heights on Saturday.

Sunday's remaining game finds the fifth-place Glenolden Stars playing Ardmore at Glenolden. Ackleson will probably twirl for Glenolden.

Manoa's shutout of Narberth was all the more amazing because the Manoa men garnered only three hits from Narberth. The winners capitalized on nine walks by Weinert, plus a single by Bob Politti and a long fly by Gil Gekoski to win. Millard Robinson scattered seven Narberth hits.

Shulz in Form
Lefty Bob Shulz held Media to four hits as Wayne surprised the Main Liners, 10-4. Ray Edelman went "four for four" to lead a 14-hit Wayne attack against St. Lawrence and Lofland. Bill West out-pitched Bill Shea to give Wayne its 2-1 win over Clifton.

Narberth got only 11 hits against Manoa but, coupling numerous Ardmore walks with five Lion errors, the Boroughites had little trouble with Buddy Walker's crew. Joe Papieves led the mound for the first time this year and, although touched for 10 hits, had enough to beat Glenolden, 10-7, for Clifton Heights. Walt Kaminski garnered three hits for the winners.

Defending Champ Moves Ahead In Narberth Tennis

Ray Morris, University of North Carolina, opened defense of his Keystone State's tennis championship with a 6-0, 6-3 triumph over Bill Stoner, of Haddonfield, as the annual event opened at Narberth Tennis Club this week.

Morris was seeded second in a field of 85 players. Since he had drawn a first-round bye, the victory vaulted him to the third round. Accompanying Morris to the third round was Harry Hoffman, Rifle Club, who defeated Al Eisenberg, Baltimore, 6-1, 6-1.

Top-seeded Isadore Bellis, Philadelphia champion from Logan Tennis Club, also gained the third round at the expense of Harold Guckes, Cynwyd, 6-1, 6-0, and teammate Jay Shapiro.

In a second-round encounter, Jim Schnaars, Merion, seeded fourth, defeated Arthur Pockrass, Narberth, 6-1, 6-1. Earlier, Schnaars had defeated a Narberth entrant, Dr. Sol Perchonok, 6-1, 5-1. William Clothier, Jr., was an upset victim in an opening round contest when Don Neill, Cynwyd, won by 6-4, 6-0.

Playground League Schedule Concludes

The Haverford Township Elementary Playgrounds Baseball League race concluded yesterday (Wednesday) when three games were played. Oakmont played host to Brookline, Manoa met Chestnutwood on the former's field, and Llanerch invaded Polo grounds.

Narberth Warriors continued to dominate the Narberth Junior Baseball League by trouncing Narberth Aces in the final game of a doubleheader, 45-14. Collingdale conquered Penn Wynne, 52 to 28, in the first game.

Ralph Blessing and Skippy Thaw led the Warriors' attack with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Dick Squier was high for Narberth Aces with five. Bob Seefelt scored 14 points and Frank Ketter cased 13 to help Collingdale retain second place in the league race.

Three games will be staged Tuesday evening. A Senior League game will start at 7 P. M., followed by the Collingdale-Bala-Cynwyd game. In the finale, league-leading Narberth Warriors play Penn Wynne.

Lower Merion High Footballers To Hold 1st Drills Wednesday

Lower Merion High football candidates will meet for the first time next Wednesday, August 18, when Coach Dick Mattis and his aides will send the Ardmore Aces through their paces on Chichester Field. More than 60 are expected to work out in the twice-daily drills prior to opening of school on September 8. Sessions will be held from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3 o'clock each day, with emphasis on calisthenics and other conditioning drills.

Included among the candidates greeting Mattis will be 10 lettermen from the powerhouse 1947 team, which won 10 games and yielded only 237 points to opponents. In all, the Mattismen boast a string of 13 straight, having conquered Radnor, 27-0, in the county championship game to tack 10 victories onto three carried over from the previous season.

Lower Merion hasn't been beaten since it lost to Upper Darby in the middle of the 1946 campaign. After that upset, the Aces went on to win over Norristown, Chester and Radnor.

Of the 10 available lettermen, only five played more or less regularly. They include Co-captains Bill Buck, left end, and Hal Lampe, guard who sparked on defense; Bob Callahan, who alternated with Bob DiMarco at center; Bill Ryder, right end, and Don Shaver, guard.

Other lettermen are Dick Oliver, left back who was handicapped by a bad knee last season (it's since been operated on); Gil Galluine, the sophomore sensation and State javelin champion; Charlie Wilson, like Galluine a halfback; fullback George Wilson and Al Sears, end. Lower Merion will host a "pretty fair" team this year, according to Mattis. But, he cautiously adds, "We won't win 'em all. He points out the Aces fielded a five-man line averaging 207 pounds last year; he doesn't know of any candidate this season topping 200. The team also averaged 185 against an expected 170 this season.

Graduation took a heavy toll of the L. M. squad, including the line backfield, one guard and two tackles. Undoubtedly one of the biggest losses will prove to be Cap Len Shephard, selected as the district's outstanding scholastic player last season. Shephard, along with Jim Barry, teammate and tackle, report to Penn State next month.

Merion Cubs Top Main Line League

Games scheduled for Thursday August 5, in the Main Line Scout League, were postponed due to rain and will be played this Thursday, August 12.

Saturday, August 7, Pack 7 (Ardmore) and Penn Wynne Pack 33 met in another rain-out game and Pack 74 came out on the ton and scored 31 to 11; Rommel Greenlee (Pack 33), who threw week before held Pack 74 to 2 hits; was missing, and what a difference it made with the losing Pack 33. All boys of Pack 74 contributed (or 2 hits, with Jack Barr and Joe O'Brien coming through with two home runs each.

Ardmore 74-31; Penn Wynne 33-11.

AIRING SPORTS

By HARRY ROBERT, KYW Sportscaster

Here's a Point in Favor Of Today's Ball Player

Not long ago, the Phillies and Cynwyd collaborated in one of the best affairs it has ever been my pleasure to witness when they promoted Oldtimers Night with the Phillies. They brought back more than 30 great players of past eras, some of whom rank among the top performers in all sports history.

One of my favorites is old Cy Williams, Phillies home-run hitter of the early 1920's, who gave the customers in Baker Bowl many a thrill. And as I was walking down the street with Cy, he asked me how much night baseball they play today.

I told him it is more than 50 per cent night ball in the hot summer and that the time was not far off when we would not see daylight ball at all except Sunday and at the very start and finish of the season.

Old Cy shook his head and he and I agreed that while night ball is responsible for the soaring attendance records, it will never seem the same game—somehow, baseball just seems to be a game that belongs in daylight and sunshine.

But it brought to mind a point of today are not aware of, and at least, the younger ones and one which pays high compliment to today's players, showing the oldtimers don't deserve all the glory, no matter what their diadems.

What a lot of us don't realize is that the player today works under conditions far more difficult than the stars of the '20's—and a batting average of, say,

.310 is about the equal of .340 in those years, possibly more.

VARYING CONDITIONS TOUGH ON TODAY'S BATTERS

For one thing, the changing conditions under which the players perform now is no help. They play several games under artificial lights, then suddenly jump into a daylight game, or more likely, a daylight double-header. Then they go back to the arc lights for a game and next return again to afternoon play.

In addition to that difficulty, certainly no aid to any hitter's batting average, they frequently run into kinks in the schedule with the oldtimers never had to contend. The worst of these is the night game preceding the double-header—the players protested this and were promised by the owners it would be eliminated, but it has happened this season, nevertheless, and once the Phils played a Saturday night in St. Louis, then had to jump to Cincinnati by sleeper and play twice the following afternoon.

But the is more to it, still. Oldtimers who batted .350 to .400 had the benefit of another life denied today's players—the sacrifice fly. Under that scoring rule, a player was not charged with a time at bat when he hit a long fly on which a runner scored—and for a couple of seasons they gave credit for a sacrifice fly every time a runner advanced any base.

I always thought the sacrifice fly was a phony, because the player whose fly ball did nothing more than break up a promising rally got just as much credit as the man whose long fly tied or won the game.

Because of all this, it is truly remarkable when Ted Williams and Stan Musial go into mid-season whaling the ball at better than .400. But they were not doing it the last time I looked, and Williams frankly predicted the day of .400 hitter is over. No wonder.

SPORTS SCENE

By BOB JOHNSTON

Breaking up after a highly successful baseball season, members of the Haverford A. A. team are packing their bags and preparing to travel to colleges in virtually every section of the country.

Ray Edelman, Sr., reports that Sammy Venuto, hard-hitting Haverford High product, has accepted an athletic scholarship to Guilford College, C. C. College, one of the best backs ever developed at the Brookline school, will report there Sept. 20.

Bob Steiert, another Haverford product, who played for Episcopal Academy last season, is working in a lumber yard to condition himself for the fast approaching football season. He reports to the University of Delaware freshman grid squad.

Heading up-State is Bob (Mush) Marchhausen, another ex-Ford, who will enter Lock Haven State Teachers College. Bill Ash, sought by major league scouts because of his hitting prowess, will return to Lafayette College. Ash, who plays both baseball and basketball for the Leopards, fractured an ankle sliding into second base last year.

Both Ace Bell and Ray Edelman, Jr., are preparing to start their third year at West Chester State Teachers College. They plan to continue from their homes to school. Ace is a member of the Teachers' baseball team; Ray is an outfielder and also plays basketball.

Larry Aigeldinger, one of that athletically-minded Main Line clan, will return to Villanova College, while Walt Armstrong, returns to Princeton University after completing officers' training course at Quantico, Va.

Beats Grange In Tennis Test, 7-2

In what may become the first of an inter-community series in Haverford Township, Grange Playfield tennis team dropped a 7-2 decision to Westgate Hills Sunday afternoon on the Westgate courts.

The feature match was won by Cliff Keavan, Westgate ace who handed Jim Moore, of Grange, a 1-6, 6-2 defeat. Capt. Henry Hood, Grange, evened the score for Westgate champion, Bill Pehlman, 6-6, 6-2.

Hood also teamed with Moore to defeat Westgate's Pehlman and Charlie Adams in a doubles match, 6-1, 6-4.

Other Westgate victories were scored by Bob Wetler, a 6-0, 6-1 victor over G. Schreiber; Charlie Adams, who upset G. C. Steinman, 6-2, 6-2; John Nathan, 6-1, 6-0; and over C. W. Steinman, and Randall Gossling, who came up with a 6-4, 3-6 6-2 decision over Douglas Burdick.

Tommy Dorsey Listed For Steel Pier Show

Tommy Dorsey, the No. 1 bandmaster, comes to Steel Pier in Atlantic City for the week of Aug. 15, with a sparkling new vaudeville show starring George Price, Walt Disney's new screen musical "Melody Time", and other attractions.

That sentimental gentleman T. D., as he is known to his legion of fans, will bring his famous trombone and his hot and talented orchestra to the big amusement pier for daily sessions of the magic Dorsey music. Such featured vocalists as Denny Dennis and Lucy Ann Polk, the new femme singing star, and trumpeter Charlie Shavers add brilliant entertainment to the Dorsey hall show.

County Has Lowest Combined Tax Rate

Montgomery County has the lowest combined tax rate in the State of Pennsylvania, according to figures released this week by William S. Livengood, Jr., Secretary of Pennsylvania Internal Affairs. This tax rate of 1.5 mills has been in effect since 1943 due to the policy of County Commissioners F. C. Peters, Foster C. Billigass and Raymond K. Mensch operating the County government on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Havertown Nine In Night Game

Havertown A. A. baseball team, triumphant at this writing in every game but one all season, will inaugurate the Friday the 13th jinx by playing Pennsgrove toppers at Carney's Point in a night test.

The Havertowners, coached by Al Corong, met Upper Darby A. A. for the fifth time this season under the lights at the Brookline field last Wednesday night in their concluding home game. Ira Harnish is expected to hurl for the township team against Pennsgrove.

There's No Substitute for Newspaper Coverage

The Newspaper is a Force in the Community

Readers come to know that the newspaper is more than an advertising medium. It is a force in the community that keeps coming regularly through all seasons of the year. Through it the reader learns to know his community better and develops loyalties toward the community and its institutions. As a manifestation of this loyalty, he tends to give a large share of his patronage to concerns which advertise in his favorite newspaper.

The newspaper reaches all age groups. It reaches mother and dad, who make the principal decisions on purchases. It also reaches the young-

There are many forms of advertising—billboards, sound trucks, circulars, direct mail, radio and others; why is it that year after year newspaper advertising is preferred by so many advertisers, large and small.

It is because year after year newspaper advertising proves the most economical, most effective medium for those advertisers. And that, in turn, is because the newspaper goes into the homes of its readers as an invited guest, paid for in advance by the subscribers, who turn to it eagerly for its news and features as well as for the advertising messages of local merchants.

Readers, who often play a large part in influencing these decisions.

Newspaper advertising is economical. Usually it costs less, inch for inch and reader for reader, than other forms of advertising. In addition, it is more flexible, permitting the merchant to vary his advertising expenditures with the seasons. Its late deadlines permit advertising copy to be as up to the minute as the news itself.

Are you seeking more business? Before you commit yourself to an advertising program, be sure to learn what your newspaper can do for you.
